Session 3: Original Cataloging

- How are fixed fields coded for serials?
- What is the chief source for a serial?
- How do I determine the main entry for serials?
- What title information should be included in the record?

1

Background information: CONSER Standard Record

- CONSER Standard Record Documentation and LC Rule Interpretations:
  - http://www.loc.gov/catdir/cpso/conser.html
- Background:
  - http://www.loc.gov/acq/conser/access-level.html

2

Philosophy behind the CONSER standard record

- Meet user tasks for access
- Reduce redundancies in cataloging
- Help with decision-making process
- Work for better utilization of MARC 21 for storage, retrieval and display

3

“CRS” and “AACR2”: Two Practice Labels

- CONSER standard record cataloging is a subset of AACR2 cataloging
- Examples labeled “CSR” show CONSER standard record application of AACR2
- Examples labeled “AACR2” show elements beyond the requirements of “CSR”

Key Elements in the Fixed Field

- Publication status = currently published, ceased ("dead"), or unknown
- Beginning/ending dates = base this on year(s) in 362; when there are multiple years, use later year (e.g., 1994 for 1993/1994)
- OPTIONAL codes:
  - Frequency = how often the serial is published
  - Regularity = is the frequency regular or not

Basis of the Description: Which Issue?

- The first issue (if available)
  [CSR]
  362 1- $a Began with v. 1, no. 1 (May 2002).
  [AACR2 practice:]
  362 0- $a Vol. 1, no. 1 (May 2002)-
- The earliest available issue
- Always state source of description [CSR]
  500 -- $a Description based on v. 14, no. 3 (Dec. 1998).
  500 -- $a Description based on v. 1, no. 1 (May 2002).

13

AACR2

- If cataloging from first issue:
  362 0- Formatted numbering statement
  No 500 “Description based on” note
- If not cataloging from first issue:
  No 362 0- Formatted numbering statement
  500 “Description based on” note
- If not cataloging from first issue, but have information about it:
  362 1- Unformatted numbering statement (note)
  500 “Description based on” note

14

For Example …

Have first issue:

362 0- $a Vol. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 2001)-

Don't have first issue:

500 -- $a Description based on Vol. 1, no. 2
(Apr. 2001).

Don't have first issue, but have information about it:

362 1- $a Began with v. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 2001).

500 -- $a Description based on Vol. 1, no. 2
(Apr. 2001).

15

Chief Source: What Source Within the Issue?

- Title page
- Title page substitutes (preferred order):
  - analytical title page (for series)
  - cover
  - caption
  - masthead
  - editorial pages
  - colophon
  - other pages
- Note chief source, even if title page [CSR]
  - Combine with "Description based on" note:

  Description based on v. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 2001); title from cover.

  Description based on Jan. 2003; title from t.p.

16

Main Entry

Decision process:

Summary

- Base the description on the first or earliest available issue in hand
- The chief source is the title page or its substitute (cover, caption, etc.)
- Most serials are entered under title
- Uniform titles are sometimes used to distinguish different serials with the same title (entered under title)
- Record the title proper as it appears on the chief source, except for capitalization, punctuation and omissions
- Record other title information when considered useful
- There are important differences between the CONSER standard record and AACR2 practice
