Executive summary of Cataloging & Metadata Center Work Plan for FY2011

Highest Priorities

Key strategic directions of the unit next year will center around making new specialized materials accessible in new ways, using new tools and methods.

We will work on multiple digital library projects concurrently throughout the year <item 1 in accompanying spreadsheet>. We will experiment with direct data input to OCLC Connexion, with subsequent import to the Digital Library Collection System (DLCS) <item 27>; conversely, DLCS metadata for other projects will be mapped to MARC records and loaded to WorldCat <items 5, 24>. Authority work in the Center will expand to submissions of new terms to vocabularies other than LCSH and establishment of names frequently needed in projects <item 12>. Precious staffing resources to support digital initiatives will be freed up by expansion of shelf-ready to include more than one vendor and expansion of cataloging on receipt in acquisitions beyond a small pilot test <items 8-9>.

We will provide cataloging records for non-roman materials omitted from previous retrospective conversion projects in preparation for digitization by Google <item 3>. We will also increase access to non-roman materials by piloting vernacular-only data input in acquisitions for items without OCLC copy, by experimenting with "floating" limited appointments or students with specific language skills who could meet needs in various Library areas, and by contributing original script to national authority records <items 5, 4, 17>. We will catalog print maps to support the map digitization project <item 1>.

Other key goals of the Center next year include

- Completing the Mellon Hidden Collections grant project <item 2>
- Testing and preparing for implementation of a new cataloging code, Resource Description and Access (RDA) <items 21, 35>
- Participating in the first Program for Cooperative Cataloging (PCC) cooperative project involving open-access e-serials <item 19>
