

Session 2: What is a Serial?

- What is the definition of a serial?
- What are the common characteristics of serials?
- What types of publications are or are not typically cataloged as serials?
- What MARC tags are most commonly used for serials?

Definition of a Serial

A continuing resource

- issued in a succession of discrete parts
- usually bearing numbering
- that has no predetermined conclusion

Important Elements of the Definition

- Succession of discrete parts
 - Usually issues, could be numbered articles
- Numbering (usually)
 - Needed to distinguish issues
 - “Usually” refers primarily to unnumbered series
- No predetermined conclusion

Also Treat as Serials:

- Publications of limited duration (AACR2 12.0A)
 - Have similar characteristics and functions of serials but have a predetermined conclusion
 - Examples: Newsletters from conferences, quarterly reports of projects, etc.

Identifying Characteristics

- ISSN:
 - 1096-6919
 - 0895-495X
- Frequency in title:
 - AB Bookman's weekly
 - Annual report of the Academy of Sciences of Estonia
 - Yachting monthly

Identifying Characteristics

- Enumeration/chronology:
 - Volume 28
 - Vol. 32, No. 10 September 1997
 - Spring 1997
 - 1998-1
- Year(s) of coverage:
 - 1997 (item published in 1998)
 - ... for the fiscal year 1995
 - ... covering the period July 1978 through June 1979

Identifying Characteristics

- Intent to continue publishing:

Preface:

The inaugural issue of Advances in the Theory of Computation and Computational Mathematics ... Future volumes of ATCCM ...

- Certain titles:

Advances in accounting

Developments in aging

Progress in theoretical organic chemistry

Trends in African linguistics

Non-serials: Monographs (print)

- Books issued in parts (fascicles)
- Cartographic materials
- Censuses
- Encyclopedias
- Hearings
- Five-year plans

Non-serials: Integrating Resources

- Updating Web sites
- Updating online databases
- Updating loose-leafs

Special Types of Resources

Frequently issued editions:

Catalog as a serial only when published every year or two; otherwise treat as monograph

Special Types of Resources

Conference publications

- Catalog as serial if it fits the definition
The 48th Annual Meeting of the National Athletic Trainer's Association

Conference Proceedings
Animal Transportation Association
17th International Conference
September 29-October 2, 1991
- Do not catalog as a serial if there are distinctive titles or conference is in a numbered series

Conference Publications

Split treatment:

500 -- $a Issues for 1993-1995 conferences
cataloged separately. $5 [NUC symbol]

500 -- $a Beginning with the 5th conference, issues are cataloged separately. $5 [NUC symbol] or

590 -- $a Issues for 1993-1995 conferences
cataloged separately.

590 -- $a Beginning with the 5th conference, issues
are cataloged separately.

Resources Issued in Loose-leaf Format

- Catalog as serial if:
 - Resource is a serial whose successive issues are stored in a binder
 - Base volume is regularly issued (e.g., annual with updates during the year)
- Catalog as an integrating resource if:
 - Updates are interfiled and base volume is irregularly revised

Supplements

Supplements may be separately cataloged as serials when they have their own title and/or numbering

Opportunity Magazine
Vol. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 1923)-

The Annual Buyers' Guide of Success Secrets
1997-

Public Health Reports
Vol. 11, no. 1 (Jan. 3, 1896)-v. 85, no. 12
(Dec. 1970)

Supplement ... to the Public Health Reports
No. 1-no. 213

Reprints of Serials (12.0A & RI 1.0)

Catalog as serials unless the reprint includes only a single issue or a collection of unrelated serials

Serial: Black Mountain review. Reprint, with an introduction added, of a publication issued (quarterly 1954, annually 1955-1957) in Black Mountain, N.C. by the Black Mountain College and edited by Robert Creely.

Monograph: Prague spring. A collection of articles from newspapers published in Czechoslovakia during the years 1966-1968.

Monographic Series

Series may be cataloged as a serial or each issue of the series may be cataloged separately

Abraham Lincoln
The First American

By Gordon B. Baldwin

Historical Bulletin No. 42
Lincoln Fellowship of Wisconsin

Change over Time

- What begins as a multipart monograph may become ...
- What begins as an integrating resource may become ...
- What begins as an serial may become ...

Summary

- Three criteria for serials: successive parts, numbering, no predetermined conclusion
- Certain resources require special considerations relating to access, control, etc.
- When unsure, review LCRI 1.0, search for records on databases, consider the needs of your library
- MARC tags for serials include special note fields & linking fields

Session 3: Original Cataloging

- How are fixed fields coded for serials?
- What is the chief source for a serial?
- How do I determine the main entry for serials?
- What title information should be included in the record?

Key Elements in the Fixed Field

- Publication status = currently published, “dead,” or unknown
- Beginning/ending dates = base this on year(s) in 362; when combined dates, use the last (e.g. 1993/1994)
- OPTIONAL codes:
 - Frequency = how often the serial is published
 - Regularity = is the frequency regular or not

More Elements in the Fixed Field

- Original alphabet = NSDP or ISSN Canada use only
- Type of continuing resource = monographic series, newspaper, periodical, or none of the above
- Entry convention = all current serial records are coded as “0” for successive entry

Sample Record Fixed Field Coding

- Publication status c (current)
- Beginning/ending dates 19uu, 9999
- Frequency ■ (optional)
- Regularity ■ (optional)
- Type of continuing resource p (periodical)
- Entry convention 0 (successive entry)

Basis of the Description (AACR2 12.0B1/LCRI): Which Issue?

- The first issue (if available)
 362 1- $a Began with v. 1, no. 1 (May 2002).
 [Former practice:]
 362 0- $a Vol. 1, no. 1 (May 2002)-
- The earliest available issue
- Always state source of description
 500 -- $a Description based on v. 14, no. 3 (Dec. 1998).
 500 -- $a Description based on first issue.

Former Practice: Pre-CSR

- If cataloging from first issue:
362 0- Formatted numbering statement
No 500 “Description based on” note
- If not cataloging from first issue:
No 362 0- Formatted numbering statement
500 “Description based on” note
- If not cataloging from first issue, but have information about it:
362 1- Unformatted numbering statement (note)
500 “Description based on” note

For Example ...

Have first issue:

362 0- $a Vol. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 2001)-

Don't have first issue:

500 -- $a Description based on Vol. 1, no. 2
(Apr. 2001).

Don't have first issue, but have information about it:

362 1- $a Began with v. 1, no. 1 (Jan. 2001).

500 -- $a Description based on Vol. 1, no. 2
(Apr. 2001).

Chief Source (AACR2 12.0B2): What Source Within the Issue?

- Title page
- Title page substitutes (preferred order):
 - analytical title page (for series)
 - cover
 - caption
 - masthead
 - editorial pages
 - colophon
 - other pages
- Always note chief source (even if title page)
 - Combine with “Description based on” note:
Description based on first issue; title from cover.
Description based on Jan. 2003; title from t.p.

Main Entry (AACR2 21.1B2)

- Decision process:
 - Does it fit one of the categories in AACR2 21.1B2?
 - If not, what is the title?
 - Does this record need a uniform title?

21.1B2: Categories Most Often Used for Serials

- A. Works of an administrative nature
(e.g., annual reports, directories, etc.)
- C. Works that reflect the collective thought of a body
(e.g., reports of commissions, etc.)
- D. Collective activity of a body
(e.g., conference proceedings)

Main Entry

- Entry under corporate body:
 - 110 2- $a International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes.
 - 245 10 $a Annual report / $c ICSID.
- Entry under title (most common):
 - 245 00 $a Look Japan.
 - 245 00 $a Adobe magazine.

Main Entry

- Entry under uniform title (LCRI 25.5B)
 - Optional* for CONSER Standard Record
130 0- $a Network (Bristol, England)
130 0- $a Network (Friends of the Earth)
 - Required* (even for CONSER Standard Record)
130 0- $a Bulletin (Florida Orange Growers)
130 0- $a Bulletin (Friends of the Earth)
- Entry under personal author (rare):
 - 100 1- $a Gresham, Don.
 - 245 14 $a The country music newsletter.

Title Proper (AACR2 12.1B)

245 $a, $n, $p

- Title proper includes subfields $a (title), $n (numbering of section), and $p (name of section)
- Importance of the title proper:
 - used to determine major changes
 - used in links
245 00 $a OAH newsletter.
245 04 $a The bookman. $n Part B.
245 00 $a Journal of physics. $n E,
$p Scientific instruments.
245 00 $a Country profile. $p China,

Summary

- Base the description on the chief source of the first or earliest available issue in hand
- The chief source is the title page or its substitute (cover, caption, etc.)
- Most serials are entered under title
- Formerly, uniform titles were used to distinguish different serials with the same title (entered under title)
- Record the title proper as it appears on the chief source, except for capitalization, punctuation and omissions
- Record other title information when considered useful
- There are important differences between the CONSER Standard Record and former practice
