

UCLA Library Cataloging & Metadata Center
Reference Collection
Policies & Procedures
Sept. 2005

The Training and Documentation Section is responsible for maintaining the Reference Collection for the use of everyone in the Cataloging & Metadata Center; the Training and Documentation Section welcomes recommendations from other sections regarding the collection.

1. Recommendations for changes to the Reference Collection.

- a. Additions. Please make recommendations for specific tools or titles in your area of expertise to your Section Head, who will consult with the Training and Documentation Section and Department Head, as appropriate.
- b. Removals. Weeding projects are regularly undertaken by the Training and Documentation Section, which consults with the appropriate experts in any given area as needed. Please make recommendations for the removal or transfer of specific tools or titles in your area of expertise to Rita.
- c. Rearrangements. Rita maintains an Access database which lists the items in the Collection, and where they are located. For this reason, please do not shift items in any part of the Reference Collection. Please make recommendations for rearrangement of tools or titles in your area of expertise to Rita.

2. Reference Collection use.

Please try not to take items from the Reference Collection to your desk area. If you borrow any item(s) from the Reference Collection, leave a brief note with your name and date. Return the items as quickly as possible (i.e., don't let them linger in your work area for more than a day or two). In the past, there have been instances where someone was looking for a specific item, and couldn't find it, because it wasn't where it belonged.
